Work and Research Experience

Sep.2021 - Present, Staff Data Scientist, Shopify, Seattle, WA, USA

1. Spearheaded and secured executive buy-in for a two-year strategic initiative by identifying a $40B international market growth gap, resulted in cross-functional resource allocation across Product, Engineering, and Commercial organizations.
2. Designed and scaled foundational research (two large annual surveys targeting merchants and partners), establishing the results as a core business health metric; delivered insights that drove a 50% reduction in developer-reported app-building friction and achieved 75% efficiency gain in merchant perception tracking through the automation of processes via LLMs.
3. Pioneered forward-looking research into the impact of Generative AI on the core platform experience, directly informing the product roadmap and influencing strategic investment decisions.

Jul.2020 - Sep.2021, Quantitative UX Researcher, Google, Mountain View, CA, USA

1. Develop and implement a user-centered metric tracking framework.
2. Identify product gaps, competitive positioning, and unmet user needs through a combination of large-scale surveys, text analytics, preference modeling, and log analysis.
3. Collaborate with the machine intelligence team to develop innovative AI features.
4. Drive change by communicating actionable findings to both experts and non-experts within the organization.

May.2018 - Jun.2020, Head of data science, Netlify, San Francisco, CA, USA

1. Establish and manage a data science team to drive growth optimization and sales enablement. Netlify's user base has grown by over 15% per month, and revenue has grown by 10% per month.
2. Collaborate with the infrastructure team to create data pipelines that centralize large-scale user-generated data (Data Lake) in a big data cloud environment.
3. Develop and implement a Data Mart for business users.
4. Define and oversee the development of user behavior analysis fundamentals.

May.2013 - Apr.2018, Marketing Data Scientist (Tech Lead), DuPont, Johnston, IA, USA

1. Machine learning for predictive analytics.
2. Analyzing marketing programs under observational scenarios.
3. Conducting market research surveys.
